Database Indexes

A database index helps find rows faster without scanning every row in a table.

Indexes are useful for columns that are searched or sorted often.

Indexes use extra storage and can make writes slightly slower.